No. 2 DOCK.

Length inside, 375 ft. Width of entrance, top 60.5 ft. bottom 45.8 ft. Water on blocks, 36.5 ft. Time to pump out, 2 hours.

THESE DOCKS are conveniently situated in Yokohama harbour and the attention of Captains and Engineers is respectfully called to the advantages offered for Docking and repairing Vessels and Machinery of every description.

The plant and tools are of recent patterns for dealing quickly and cheaply with work and a large stock of material is always at hand (plates and angles all being tested by Lloyd's surveyors).

Two powerful Twin Screw Tugs are available for taking Vessels in or out of Dock, and for taking Sailing Vessels in or out of the bay. The floating derrick is capable of lifting 35 tons.

Steam Launches of Steel or Wood, Ligatures, Steel Buildings and Roofs, Bridge Work, and all kinds of Machinery are made on the premises.

Tenders will be made up when required and the workmanship and material will be guaranteed.

The cost of Docking, and repair work, will be found to compare favourably with that of any port in the world.

THE CATTLE TRADE.

HONGKONG SHIPMENTS QUARANTINED.

The Manila Times, of 7th inst., says:—Foot and mouth disease has shown itself in the two shipments of cattle which arrived from Hongkong yesterday. These shipments include 150 by the steamer Rubi and about 70 or 80 by the steamer Loongsang.

Since the quarantine regulations have come into force at Hongkong all cattle have to undergo detention for the required number of days and to be free from any disease. As matters now stand these animals have all to be inspected carefully again and quarantined until the specified time is over. Should another shipment follow that is infected it will mean a stoppage of the cattle trade entirely. It is thought here that the cattle when they come into Hongkong are all right but after they have been there for a time contract disease and then bring it into the Philippines.

COTTON IN THE FAR EAST.

AN INTERESTING INTERVIEW.

BOMBAY'S COMPETITORS.

Japan and the Japanese occupy a large share of the attention of the Western world to-day, whilst their commercial methods have a very personal interest for the manufacturing and mercantile community of Bombay. Recently Sir Cowaji Jehangir, accompanied by his son, Mr. Cowaji Jehangir, made an extensive tour in the Far East, and his observations and deductions which he draws from the things he saw whilst travelling in China and Japan are of considerable interest.

Interviewed by a representative of the Advocate of India, Sir Jehangir stated he was immensely impressed by the Japanese. Their energy and methods awoke his admiration and at the same time he thought the time would come when they would be more serious competitors to the Bombay manufacturers than they are at present.

Asked if the Japanese spinning mills were up-to-date as regards machinery and construction, Sir Jehangir said that the Bombay mills compared very unfavourably with some of the Japanese mills he had visited. They constructed their mills on an entirely different principle to Indian or European mills, preferring a number of sheds of one storey spread over a large tract of land to a two or three storey building. The machinery was first class, and for the most part came from Europe and America.

It was, however, the enterprise of the Japanese that Sir Jehangir was so impressed with. Nearly all the mills in Japan, he said, were managed by Japanese who had been trained in European and American methods, and there were very few Europeans in the country engaged in this industry.

"How do you consider the Chinese mills compare with the Japanese, Sir Jehangir?" asked the interviewer. "The Chinese as a general rule cannot compare with the Japanese as mill managers. In Shanghai, there are over thirty mills and many of these, although they are owned by Chinese, are managed by Japanese. We visited mills managed by Chinese, Europeans and Japanese, and in our opinion the latter were the best managed of them all."

Referring again to the Japanese mills, Sir Jehangir stated that at one mill they visited they were shown an engine which had been made in the country. This was the first engine of its kind of entire Japanese construction.

"In Kobe," continued Sir Jehangir, "we visited a model mill, the only one in Japan. This mill employed some 4,000 workpeople and formed a little colony by itself. Attached to the mill were excellent dwelling places for the workmen, a hospital containing an up-to-date operating theatre, a small bazaar at which it was possible not only to buy the necessities of life but curios as well, an outdoor theatre and a substantially built indoor theatre for the workpeople. This, of course, is the only mill run on these lines in Japan. It is the property of a public company and last year paid a dividend of 50 per cent. Many other mills in Japan also paid very well last year, some as much as twenty and thirty per cent."

"There is at present a serious financial crisis in the country now, I believe?"

"Yes," indeed," replied Sir Jehangir, "at present the mills are for the most part working at much less pressure than last year. All over the country the depression is serious and this in conjunction with the high taxes make it a problem as to what the future will bring forth."

"I think," continued Sir Jehangir, "that the Japanese will weather the storm and emerge a stronger nation than they have ever been."

The visitors were greatly impressed by the educational progress of Japan. Every village possessed a school and attached to the school was a gymnasium. Nearly every Japanese spoke English and even the rickshaw coolies understood the language and could read it. In fact so well informed were these latter that Sir Jehangir and his son on many occasions engaged them as guides.

In Sir Jehangir's opinion the attention the Government paid to the mental and physical education of the younger generation would result in Japan making great strides in the future.

Speaking of the effects of the Chinese boycott, Sir Jehangir said the Northern Chinese were indifferent to it, but the Southern Chinese and the Cantonese were very enthusiastic in prosecuting the boycott and would, he thought, continue it for some time.

Inspecting of China, Sir Jehangir was deeply impressed with the possibilities of Shanghai, a city which he thought would in time compete seriously with Bombay in the cotton industry. There were already over thirty mills there, and these were being carried on under very disadvantageous conditions, the millowners having to pay a heavy tax on imported cotton and also to pay heavily for freights.

"In China the Japanese are competing very successfully with Bombay, are they not?" asked the interviewer.

"Yes," in Northern China particularly; in Southern China not so much. In this connection, though," continued Sir Jehangir, "I am glad to say that I think there is hope for Bombay in the future. Several railway lines are in course of construction or will shortly be commenced for joining up North and South China, and when these are completed I hope that Bombay will be able to compete with the Japanese on more equal terms. At present the Japanese Government by means of subsidies to Japanese shipping and other methods help the Japanese millowners to a great extent and thus enable them to compete on favourable terms with all other countries. As an instance of the heavy taxation in Japan, Sir Jehangir pointed out that there was an income tax of Rs. 15 per cent.

Judging from Sir Jehangir's observations the Japanese are rather exercised as to their dresses. Most of the older generation wear European clothes, but there is at present a movement in favour of adopting the national dress again. At a party at Baron Hayashi's at which Sir Jehangir and his son were present they saw several ladies in kimonos and Japanese shoes dancing European dances with members of the European communities.

Summing up his impressions of Japan Sir Jehangir comes to the conclusion that although the country is now practically bankrupt, the taxes extremely high and trade in a very depressed state, Japan will recover, owing chiefly to the extremely patriotic spirit of the people who assist the Government in every way. When the country has passed through the present crisis she will go ahead with leaps and bounds and will become one of the greatest of industrial powers.

A SILLY SAYING.

"It is a common but silly opinion prevailing among a certain class of people that the worse a remedy tastes, smells, or hurts, the more efficacious it is." So says a well-known English physician. He further adds: "For example, let us consider cod liver oil. As it is extracted from the fish this oil is so offensive to the taste and smell that almost everybody abhors it, and many cannot use it at all, no matter how badly they need it. Yet cod liver oil is one of the most valuable drugs in the world, and it is the greatest pity that we have not thus far been able to free it from those peculiarities which so seriously interfere with its usefulness." This was written years ago; the work of civilising and redeeming it however, has since been triumphantly accomplished; and as a leading ingredient in the remedy called the oil retains all its wonderful curative properties with no bad smell or taste whatever. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry; creating a medicine of unequalled power for the diseases most prevalent and fatal among men, women and children. There is no other remedy to compare with it. It increases the digestive power of the stomach and in Blood Impurities, Weakness, Loss of Flesh, Throat and Lung Troubles, Nervous Dyspepsia, Scrofulous Affections, Thinness and Slow Development in the young, it gives quick and certain relief and cure. Dr. G. C. Shannon, of Canada, says: "I shall continue its use with, I am sure, great advantage to my patients and satisfaction to myself." Has all the virtues of cod liver oil; none of its faults. You may trust it fully; it cannot disappoint or fail. One bottle convinces. Sold by all chemists.

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION

The Hongkong Telegraph

HONGKONG, TUESDAY, JULY 14, 1908.

PROPOSED LIGHTHOUSE AT BLACKHEAD'S POINT.

One of the coincident features of the growth of Kowloon as a commercial centre and the consequent erection of great business houses along the waterfront is the extraordinary change which has taken place in the appearance of the peninsula after nightfall. It is not so very long ago since Kowloon was an inky speck on the harbour, the dark patches being merely rendered more palpable by the few lights which flickered at vague distances outlining the shore. But within recent years the fast growing importance of Kowloon and its future potentialities have been marked by the extension of illuminating power to such an extent that at the present time it is practically impossible for navigators, other than those who are in almost daily touch with the port, to determine exactly which is Kowloon and which is Hongkong when entering the harbour by way of Lyceum Pass. So confusing is the multitude of lights on each side of the harbour that already two mercantile marine vessels have come to grief on the Hung Hom rocks, one of His Majesty's ships went ashore, and many other craft have been in danger of disaster. Fourteen months ago, when H.M.S. Flora went on one of the rocks on the Kowloon side of the harbour, the captain is reported to have alleged as the reason for the mishap, which fortunately proved of a trifling character, that the vista of Hongkong harbour had been entirely transformed as the result of the brilliant lights appearing on the Kowloon promontory, so that it was impossible for him or his officers, even when all precautions were adopted, to determine with exactitude whether they were approaching the mainland or the island. Such a statement coming from an authority of the standing of a responsible officer in the Royal Navy, could not be ignored either by the Government of Hongkong or the Admiralty at Whitehall. It was tantamount to saying that vessels entering the port by way of the Lyceum Pass, after sundown, were in immediate peril, because there was no distinguishing landmark to guide them on the way to their anchorage. Apparently the Government recognised at once the importance of the argument submitted, and the question of erecting a lighthouse on the Kowloon coast so that the clear channel might be properly defined was referred to the Secretary of State for the Colonies. I doubt the Naval authorities here also made representations to the Admiralty as to the necessity for improving the guiding lights for vessels approaching by way of the Eastern entrance. At all events, we understand that, with the approval of the Secretary of State, the Hongkong Government propose to submit for the consideration of the Legislative Council the suggestion that a lighthouse be erected at Blackhead's Point without delay. It is stated that prior to submitting the matter to the Secretary of State the Government here obtained the opinion of several Trinity House experts, whose views were in favour of the course mentioned. There is not the slightest doubt that all mariners will welcome the erection of an additional landmark which will render the entrance to the port as little hazardous as possible. The scheme, we are told, provides for an occulting light which will be visible from Lyceum Pass. The question of cost does not enter into the question at the moment, but many will be inclined to ask whether Blackhead's Point, or, as we take it, Flagstaff Hill is the most suitable site for the erection of a lighthouse of the size and capacity requisite to meet all requirements? Already great part of the hill has been shorn away to the extent of 45 degrees in order to make room for a new thoroughfare, while a massive retaining wall had to be built in order to guard against the outward pressure of the rock. At one meeting of the Legislative Council, it may be remembered, Mr. Pollock inquired who was to defray the cost of that retaining wall, and the Government's answer was that it would come out of the ordinary Public Works expenditure. Already Flagstaff Hill is a signalling station, where the typhoon signals are exhibited and it would seem to the ordinary layman that there was but little room left for a lighthouse, leaving aside altogether the question whether it would be desirable that the light should be at such a height. But, of course, there are questions for experts although experts are not always infallible. The fact remains that the Government, with the consent of the Secretary of State, and after consultation with Trinity House representatives, are now to make extra provision for the benefit of navigators whose lives are quite full enough of perils as it is, without their being enhanced by confusing and bewildering changes in the harbour approaches to Hongkong.

THE WIDOWS AND ORPHANS' FUND.

Within the past week the Government have taken active steps to ascertain the views of the individual contributors to the Widows and Orphans' Pension Fund in connection with the proposal by the Secretary of State to transfer that fund to the general revenue of the Colony. We understand that copies of the despatches which were recently laid before the Legislative Council have been circulated amongst the entire body of contributors, with the request that each individual member should give an expression of assent to or dissent from the proposal of the Secretary of State. When the replies have been received from the contributors it is proposed that the directors of the fund shall hold a meeting to consider the general consensus of views submitted by those who are more immediately concerned with the disposition of the fund. We take it that the object of the Government is to be prepared for any action which the unofficial members of Council may deem it necessary to take in order to give effect to the wishes of the majority of the contributors. The proposal of the Secretary of State is both arbitrary and inequitable. There is nothing in the list of the despatches, which seals the doom of the Widows and Orphans' Fund as a distinct entity of its own, to justify the action which the Colonial Office seeks to impose upon the real proprietors of the fund, which from its initiation in 1891 to the present time has been in a perfectly solvent and sound financial condition. We may go back into a little past history in reciting the fact that in Ceylon, Mauritius, the Straits Settlements, the Federated Malay States, Hongkong, Jamaica, Trinidad and British Guiana all permanent officers were required to contribute 4 per cent. of their salaries to the fund. The Government made in effect a large contribution to the fund by agreeing to pay interest at the rate of 6 per cent. on the monies belonging to the fund which were deposited with it. But the policy of the Government underwent a slight change when it was suggested by successive Secretaries of State that the colonial governments should take over the fund and guarantee the pensions in return for the 4 per cent. contributions. The proposal that the Government should take over the fund was first placed before the Hongkong Government by the Secretary of State in July, 1902, and in February, 1903, Sir Matthew Nathan, wrote stating that the Executive Council and the directors of the fund unanimously agreed to the adoption of that course. The reasons advanced by Lord Elgin for the absorption of the fund, were that the Government would bind itself to pay pensions according to pension tables which would give to the pensioners an assured income at a higher rate of interest than they themselves were presumably capable of earning. The only advantage which Lord Elgin assumed the Government would derive was that it would be "relieved from the necessity (inherent in the old system of these funds) of contributing 6 per cent. compound interest on surpluses, should such exist which had the effect of continuously increasing the surpluses and of throwing on the Government a larger burden than was reasonable or necessary." But then his Lordship proceeded to argue that the "experience of other colonies has shown that where distinct funds with separate accounts exist it is difficult to satisfy the members, who when the assets of the fund have reached a considerable figure are apt to think that the pensions can be considerably increased or the contributions reduced." It will be seen that the Secretary of State himself had a doubt in his mind as to the legal aspect of the Government proposal when he made this very significant statement: "Whether the members of the fund have any legal claim under the original ordinance to participate in the whole or indeed in any part of such surplus may be a matter of argument." This proposal, as we have said, was opposed by the majority of the contributors, who considered the scheme on the suggestion of Sir Matthew Nathan, and in transmitting the Colony's representations against the transfer of the fund Mr. May, who was then Officer Administering the Government, wrote: "I understand that the majority of the directors and contributors are considering a scheme of compulsory insurance which would remove the unpopularity of the present fund, for the reason that each contributor would know that he, his heirs or assigns would eventually get some benefit in return for his contributions; while all or very nearly all the directors and contributors feel that the Hongkong fund has had such a specially favourable start and is accumulating so rapidly that they may confidently look forward to the possibility of an increase in pension rates even on the Ceylon rates if the fund is kept separate and fresh valuations are made from time to time." The committee of the Civil Servants who sat to consider the proposal were unanimously opposed to the scheme, and one striking point which the signatories to that report made was in citing the statutory obligations on the part of the Government to guarantee that "all contributions shall during the continuance of the fund bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum." From this it is apparent that the advantage which the Secretary of State held would be derived by the Government through the transfer of the fund would have been illegal as the law then stood, and as it now stands, in other words that the fund would have been illegally acquired by the Government at the expense of the contributors. The contention on the part of the Secretary of State that there might be the fear of the expenditure exceeding the income derivable by the fund is absolutely disposed of by the committee when they stated: "The civil service, on the other hand, anticipate that the capital of the fund will increase so largely as to make it possible at some future date to revise and to increase the rates of pension; and they are prepared to undertake for themselves the risk that the Government now proposes to undertake, namely, that the expenditure may eventually exceed the income." A subsequent memorandum drawn up by the directors of the fund makes the case even stronger against the Government, and in favour of the retention of the fund on its present basis. After inconceivably disposing of the Government's argument on the question of the 6 per cent. compound interest, the directors urged that after having made inquiries they had good authority for stating "that the fund could be lent out on mortgage at the present time at as much as 8 per cent. to 9 per cent. and that this form of investment would offer the very best security to the contributors." They therefore suggested that "as a means of relieving itself of the burden of paying 6 per cent. on surpluses that the Government might itself invest or appoint trustees to invest the monies belonging to the fund in approved local securities." In face of these arguments Lord Elgin had no further grounds on which to argue that the fund should be transferred. He simply suggested that as "the fund is a dollar fund, the accounts are kept in dollars, and the balance of the fund at any time is represented by a debt due by Government of so many dollars." In the case of a considerable (and increasing) number of officers, however, the contributions are fixed in sterling and the widows and orphans' pensions will ultimately be payable in sterling currency. As the sterling contributions of officers on sterling salaries are credited to the fund in dollars at the current rate of the dollar, at the time when the contribution is paid, it follows that the value to the fund of the future contributions of existing members on sterling salaries can only be estimated with accuracy if the future values of the dollar for (say) the next thirty-five years are known. That was the last straw. To that despatch no reply was made, as far as the public documents reveal, but we may argue that the exchange question is so frivolous that it can be disposed of without much argument. If, as the Secretary of State urges, the fund is raised in the major part by contributions from officers drawing sterling salaries and the computation of future pensions may have to be made on a fluctuating currency basis, there is nothing more simple than to embody an amending clause in the Ordinance by which local officers can be made to contribute to the fund in the currency of the Colony and would receive the pensions in like currency. The risk involved in any fluctuation in the gold value of the dollar would then be accepted by the contributor himself. When paying his 4 per cent. monthly contribution from his salary in silver he expects to receive in the same currency in which he had regularly paid his quota to entitle his widow and family to the pension which his thrift purchased during his period of service. In the same way that the Government conceded to equalise the vagaries of the dollar to members of the Government service there can certainly be no difficulty in adjusting the prospective payments by a similar method of equalisation. The only advantage which the Secretary of State's scheme possesses for contributors is that which does not exist under the present scheme and that is, in the case of the very exceptional case of numbers of officers who may happen to be widowers with daughters of an exempt age, that is to say who have attained the age of 21 years, or who may have married before they attained that age. By the Secretary of State's proposal such a contributor would be entitled to a pension, whereas under the existing law he would come in for nothing at all. These are particular cases, however, which do not affect the general body of contributors, and we take it that with these few exceptions favour will be found with the proposal which the Downing Street officials make for the transference of the fund. Speaking for the majority, and it is for the majority for whom we take it, our redoubtable unofficial members will make a firm stand, the transfer cannot be justified in reason or in equity by the arguments that have been advanced in support of it.

A TOKIO despatch, of 7th inst., to the N. C. D. News says:—"A messenger from the Emperor of Japan is due to arrive in Seoul to-night in order to consult with the Resident-General, Prince Ito, on the subject of the Ministerial crisis in Japan."

THE two Japanese stayaways who were handed over to the police on Sunday, charged with stowing away on board the steamer Kwang Lee, having obtained a free passage from Shanghai, were each mulcted in the sum of $15 in the Police Court, to-day. In default the term of imprisonment was six weeks.

A TELEGRAM from Hankow states that the Houhu Lake is rising considerably, and that over 2,000 tents and sheds belonging to beggars who had been living along the bank of the Lake have been swept away by the floods. H. E. Chén, Kwei-ling, Viceroy at Wuhan, has drawn three thousand (100,000) taels ($3,000) from the Provincial Treasury for the relief of the sufferers from these inundations.

THE Imperial Commissioners in charge of the prohibition of opium-smoking among officials in Peking and the provinces have found out that there are no less than twenty-seven Metropolitan officials using opium ad nauseam. It is stated that if, when the limit of three months (from May 1, 1908) granted by the Emperor has expired, these officials are found to be still unable to break off their proclivities, they shall be denounced to the Throne for punishment.

A Trip in a Junk.

HOW TO SPEND ECONOMICAL WEEK-ENDS.

Among the most delightful ways of passing the week-end in Hongkong is to go yachting, says a correspondent. But despite the dictum of the Colonial Secretary, yachting, on real yachts that is to say, is rather an expensive hobby for the average young man in the city. As a rule he compromises by ingratiating himself into the goodwill of some friend who has control of his firm's launch. Or, if that fails, he can assemble a number of cronies together and hire a launch. But for the man of moderate means, who does not want to be one of a crowd, mostly strangers, there is another way of obtaining the necessary gratification which will carry him through another week's toil refreshed and re-invigorated.

It does not, I admit, sound well to say loftily that you have been out yachting in a junk, but that is mere prejudice. A junk, one of the Hakka variety for preference, is just as good as a real yacht any day of the week, and as for supreme comfort it is ten times better than a launch. For one thing there is always the blessed uncertainty when you will return, much more so than if you travel by the orthodox one-design arrangement. There is abundance of room to stretch your legs and swap lies, and for the benefit of those who have not yet tried the junk idea, I may be permitted to give some details gathered on a trip which a quartette of Hongkong's alleged workers enjoyed on Saturday and Sunday last.

To begin with, it should be clearly understood that the Hakka junk is not one of those boats which speed the week in carving fish, or similar commodities round the harbour and hastily cleaning up for an excursion party. Apparently these junks—which are only rather exaggerated sampans, in which you can stand erect without any danger of injuring your cranium and have ample accommodation for a dozen medium-sized individuals who do not demand the space of three fat men each—these junks are engaged in the higher or non-messy class of trade, and so far as I have experienced there is never the suspicion of foul odours about them. The deck is covered with decorative matting, and all the tripper has to do is to bring his own cushions and grub along with him.

A Saturday to Sunday evening trip allows a fair area of Hongkong's waters to be covered. Here is Junk Bay with its numerous inlets and sandy coves at no distance from Victoria; or Castle Peak Bay which abounds in ideal spots where swimming or fishing parties may enjoy themselves to their hearts' content. Or you may decide to round the island, dropping into some sequestered nook for the noonday snack—which is generally a pretty substantial affair.

As for the commissariat department, that should be left in the hands of "an old hand," otherwise there is the likelihood thatchow will give way when your "caravan" is twenty miles from Hongkong and becalmed at that, for one who has not been there can describe the ravenous appetite which can be developed when the grim tale is told that the locker is empty. Crusoe had a chance of stocking his larder, but the men on a junk have none; they can only wait and look daggers at one another. Then there is the self-constituted caterer who overstocks the pantry and he is worse still, because nothing is more miserable than having to carry back nearly as much as you left town with.

One thing about a junk is that the master will never take you too far away from home and beauty. He is far too fit for that. He is thinking of himself all the time, and if you arrange to be back at a certain hour depend upon it that wind or no wind you will be stepping ashore at Pottinger Pier a good two hours before the time-limit has been reached. If you leave on a Saturday afternoon, as we did, and decide on Castle Peak Bay as the destination, you will be astonished to find that it takes exactly fourteen hours to get there.

All night long we ran before a brisk breeze whilst the time away in time-honoured fashion—details of which may be left to your imagination—and when we woke up at dawn we were still making tracks for Castle Peak Bay. After all, what does it matter when you get there? Time was meant for slaves. But the curious part was that with no breeze to speak of we found ourselves back in the vicinity of Hongkong in a matter of four hours. It was amusing in this connection to discover that the only watch in the company had unaccountably stopped an hour ahead between the time we left Hongkong and the time of our return.

What is one man's meat is another man's poison, they say, so how we spent the day is of no consequence. You can climb the hills and be stiff for a week, or swim for hours and have a face and body the colour of brick-dust which is going to keep you lively and reminiscent for another ten days. It's all in the day's fun and somehow or other adds to the enjoyment, and is included in the fun of the outing—about the only thing that costs nothing.

The only way of reaching shore from a junk is by means of a plank the breadth of a dollar in subsidiary coinage. If you are an expert trapeze artist or wire-rope walker, all's well, but if you're not be sure the humour is "on you." In you go into the water and everybody with you, and should there be some poor unfortunely wight in the company, who disdains the water cure, and attempts to go ashore in his Sunday best, to much the better the joke. I know because I was "it."

As to the cost it is a mere trifle. For a two days' trip the charge for the junk should not exceed $5 or $10 at the outside. The cost of the victuals and the ice—a very necessary concomitant to the pleasure of the party—and the shall we say, aerated waters, with the appetites of the excursionists, ten to one each of the party would spend twice as much if he remained in Hongkong over the week-end, and the respectable appearance that money cannot buy, a trip in a junk may look cheap and mean in the eyes of the on-lookers, but what's the odds when you're happy?

A DAMAGING MEMORIAL.

[By courtesy of the "Sheung Po"]

Peking, 13th July.

Yu Shik-mui, the special commissioner to Japan, has again submitted a memorial against the granting of constitutional government.

In that memorial, the commissioner characterises the action of the people in the stand they made for the redemption of the Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo railway and in urging for the institution of a parliament as insane.

The memorialist also represented that if constitutional government is granted, it will inevitably lead to a rebellion.

Princo Ching is the only member of the Government who appears to have been affected by the memorial.

H.E. Chang, Chih-tung condemns it entirely.

THE STANLEY SHOOTING.

AN APPRAISAL.

CORONER'S INQUIRY PROBABLE.

Additional particulars have been collected by a representative of the Hongkong Telegraph, in connection with the shooting affray which took place on the Stanley Road on Sunday forenoon, in which a Chinese policeman (No. 343) shot and killed a coolie, particulars of which were recorded in our issue of last evening.

A police officer, in a conversation this morning, remarked that the attack on the policeman took place quite close to a bridge, and it was not to one policeman would have been pitched into the nullah had he not drawn his revolver and shot the man. On every side people are of opinion that the policeman acted in self-defence.

However that may be, a report of the affair has been forwarded by Chief Detective Inspector Hanson to the Coroner, through the Captain Superintendent of Police, in which the fullest particulars are mentioned, including the evidence of one witness, who appeared on the scene immediately after the man had been shot. The report will have the careful study of the Coroner, and on him alone rests the question as to whether an inquiry into the circumstances shall be held. It is almost certain, however, that the Coroner will call an inquiry.

The deceased—Chau Su by name—was about forty years of age and up to the time of his death served on the Tytan Works. In the affray which he carried in his hand when he was challenged by the policeman, who wanted to see the contents, and which Chau Su fought to his death to conceal, was found twenty packages of dynamite, equal to 120 charges if used for fishing purposes, and a coil of wire, but no detonators. Death, in the opinion of the doctor, was due to a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Everything now rests with the Coroner, from whom we expect to hear in the course of a few days.

West River Floods.

BAZAAR AT CANTON.

THE CENTRAL RELIEF FUND.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 13th July.

At a meeting held on the 11th instant at the offices of the Canton Self-Government Society in connection with the organization of the proposed Flood Fund Bazaar at Canton, there was an extraordinarily large attendance. Mr. Chan Chi Po occupied the chair. At the meeting the resolutions passed were to the effect that a site of a large arena suitable for the purpose should first be selected somewhere in the Western suburb. The Bazaar will be held for a week. It will be opened on the 4th day to the 10th day of the seventh moon, that is, from the 11th July to the 6th August. A set of regulations governing the opening ceremony was drawn up at the meeting. All the different institutions and societies in Canton should each delegate one or more members as representatives to take part and jointly co-operate in order to carry out the proposed undertaking to a successful issue. The Viceroy will be petitioned for authority that all goods and articles intended for the Canton Flood Fund Bazaar and imported into the city be passed free from the taxation of Likin and duty on their arrival from Hongkong and Macao; the Viceroy will also be requested to provide a guard of soldiers at the bazaar for protection purposes.

As a result of the meeting on that day, some of the members of the Self-Government Society were asked to hurry on with the selection of a suitable site, and they have now chosen a place in the vicinity of the To Po Tai Kai street in the western suburb, consisting of over 30 acres of land including the shan pin lotteries. It was decided that the forthcoming bazaar will be opened three times a day for public admission, viz., from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Tickets for the first and second admissions will be sold at 50 cents each, and for the third 50 cents. In the Bazaar, in addition to the sale of articles, there will be theatrical performances, cinematograph, and also separate rooms to be reserved for any visitor desirous of delivering lectures.

To-day another meeting will be held by the same Society to complete arrangements for the carrying out of the intended exhibition.

CANTON RELIEF FUNDS.

Up to the 11th instant the total sum of money already received by the Central Relief Committee from subscriptions amounted to $139,700 including $42,400 from Hongkong and $9,300 from Macao. The total expenditure up to the same day for provisions, etc., which have been distributed to sufferers and for other expenses amounted to $84,000.

RELIEF CONTINUED.

The Central Relief Committee is still sending emissaries one after another to the flooded districts with provisions and other articles for distribution.

FRENCH NATIONAL FETE.

RECEPTION AT HONGKONG.

To-day being the occasion of the French National Fete, the French Consul, M. Gaston Liebert, held a reception at his offices, Prince's Building. Among those who left cards were the following: The Aide-de-Camp to His Excellency the Governor, H. E. Major-General Broadwood, C.B., Rear Admiral Stokes, the representatives of the various Consulates and several civilians and personal friends of the Consul.

Several prominent buildings were decorated with flags in honour of the occasion. Messrs. Ullmann and Company, Teanet Pianos, and Messrs. Chislon and Company had also their national colour hoisted in front of their premises.

CELEBRATIONS AT CANTON.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Shameen, 13th July.

The French community on the Shameen, as usual, will be celebrating their great national fête day to-morrow, 14th inst. A very elaborate programme of entertainments has been drawn up as will be seen from the details which are given below. This evening the Calcutta String Band will discourse music in the French garden between 5.30 and 6.30 p.m., and a concert will be given, commencing at 9 p.m. At eight o'clock in the morning to-morrow, Tuesday, a salute will be fired. Sports, confined to members of the French marine, will take place in the forenoon. The first event is down on the cards for 8.30 a.m. An official reception will be held at the Consulate for France from ten to twelve noon, while the Commander and officers of the s.s. Paul Besi will be "at home" to their friends on board from 11.30 a.m. to 1 p.m. A special luncheon will be served to patrons and friends of the French line of steamers.

The afternoon will be devoted to sports, open-air entertainments and music. Sports, in which all the crew of the vessels in port will participate, commence at 3.30 p.m. There will be flat races, high and long jumps, sack races, children's races and tug-of-war. Contestants will be awarded money prizes ranging from $12 to $1. To enliven the proceedings a band will be in attendance from 5 to 6 p.m. A salute will again be fired at sunset.

In the evening there will be a grand illumination of the whole of the French concession. Given good weather the lights will be kept on until midnight. A pyrotechnic display has been arranged on a large scale, the grand fireworks will be given at 9.30 p.m. The programme concludes with a concert which will commence at the conclusion of the display of fireworks at 10 p.m.

A NATIVE of Holland, Frans Arnold Belthold, was committed to the House of Detention this morning. He gave himself up to the police as a vagrant.

Flood Fund Bazaar.

The bazaar at Kennedytown in aid of the Canton Flood Relief Funds continues to attract its patrons by the thousands. Interest in the exhibition does not appear to be in the least in the least. The crowds that gathered under the matchless roof yesterday and last night were as dense as on the opening day.

One departure from the practice which obtained on the inaugural evening is worthy of mention and is one which should be rectified by the responsible members of the committee without delay. We refer to the admission tickets. A small party of Europeans visited the exhibition last night. On applying at the ticket office for tickets they were told to walk upstairs and pay their entrance money to the gatekeepers without receiving any ticket for the money so paid. We should have thought the ticket system provided such an effective check on the gate receipts that it should hold good throughout the bazaar week; especially when the takings run into thousands of dollars is an effective check desirable so as to prevent any possibility of a laxity whereby the money may be diverted from its proper channel.

FURTHER CONTRIBUTIONS.

We are officially informed that the picture (the First Kitchen Lesson), reported as having been offered $10 yesterday, has been offered $3 by Mr. Li Mow Chi and again increased by Mr. Li Ping to $50.

One of the stalls (supervised by Miss Ng Shi Hing and other young ladies from the Anglo-Chinese school under Miss Ayres) has done wonderfully well.

Two pictures painted by Mr. Un Chuk Chuen, and presented by the Hon. Mr. Wei Yuh, C.M.G., have advanced in value to $150.

A contingent of girl students arrived here from Canton last evening bringing with them 100 pieces of lovely embroidery to be presented to the Bazaar and to be sold by themselves for the benefit of the Fund.

The committee beg to acknowledge with thanks the following further contributions:—

Messrs. Campbell, Moore & Co., Ltd., an assortment of fancy goods.

Messrs. H. Price & Co., Ltd., 10 dozen bottles stout.

Dr. Gibson (Alice Memorial Hospital) cheque for $100.

Mr. Kwok Yik Ting, cheque for $200.

Mr. Pang Chiu Man, cheque for $200.

Mr. Fung Wing Shan, cheque for $300.

Mr. Loong Yee Kok, cheque for $300.

HONGKONG AND SHANGHAI BANK.

THE NEXT DIVIDEND.

We are officially authorised to state that, subject to audit, the Directors of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation will recommend at the forthcoming meeting a dividend of 2 1/2 per share. It is also proposed to add to the Reserve Fund $500,000, to write off Bank Premises Account $250,000, and to carry forward about $1,000,000.

FIRE IN VICKROY'S YAMEN.

LITTLE DAMAGE.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 13th July.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon a fire broke out in the Viceroy's yamen building in one of the quarters occupied by one of the Viceroy's secretaries. On learning of the outbreak all the officials, both civil and military, throughout the city, hastened to the scene to render assistance in putting down the conflagration. Owing to the great activities of the newly formed fire brigade under the charge of Vice-president Wong, of the Police Department, the fire was extinguished in less than an hour, and there were neither damages done to the Viceroy's private residence nor to any of the offices in the Yamen. The quarter where the fire originated was, however, destroyed.

A BREEZY FIVE MINUTES.

COUNSEL OBJECTS TO BEING INTERRUPTED.

During Mr. Pollock's address to the jury in the Supreme Court this morning, in the action—Kwong Hing Cheung vs. Reuter, Brockelmann and Company—a little unpleasantness arose between the speaker and Mr. Slade, Counsel for the plaintiffs.

Mr. Pollock was dealing with a letter which alleged that one of the partners in the Kwong Hing Cheung firm was also master and partner, when Mr. Slade interrupted, saying that the statement was incorrect. "My friend is making a statement of the facts," he observed.

Mr. Pollock—I have not done so, Mr. Slade, and I solemnly deny doing so. "The jury have heard me and have heard what I have put forward. I am going to proceed and I shall ask leave without interruption."

Mr. Slade (sniffing the palm of his left hand)—I shall correct every mis-statement. If Counsel makes a mis-statement of fact, Counsel on the other side is absolutely entitled to make the correction. If Counsel were arguing the case honestly he would put the case properly.

Mr. Pollock—I object to my friend wrapping himself in this cloak of valour and virtue. I claim the right to speak. I have been Counsel in this Court longer than my friend, and it is not his business to interrupt, as he has the right to reply, without interrupting. (To the jury.) It is quite obvious why he is interrupting me.

The Chief Justice—I did not catch your sentence.

Mr. Pollock argued that there was nothing he said that was objectionable. He had right to be heard.

The Chief Justice—I did not catch your argument. Sometimes the words are lost on account of the electric fan.

Mr. Slade—I will leave it to the Court.

A MATTER OF JURISDICTION.

In the Supreme Court, this afternoon, Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C., leading Counsel for the defence, concluded his address to the jury in the action brought by the Kwong Hing Cheung firm, of Canton, against Messrs. Reuter Brockelmann and Company to restrain the defendants, their servants, and agents from falsely representing to the German Consul at Canton, and to the Chinese authorities at Canton, that certain of the partners of the Cheung Loong firm, of Hongkong, sugar merchants, were also partners in the plaintiff's firm; and from further endeavouring to enforce payment by the plaintiffs of a debt alleged to be due to the defendants by the Cheung Loong firm, by attachment of property belonging to the plaintiffs, or in which they are interested; and in which the plaintiffs claim the sum of $10,000 damages for alleged false representation and libel.

Mr. Pollock, who was assisted by Sir Henry Berkeley, K.C., instructed by Mr. E. P. H. Leung, of Messrs. Deacon, Looker and Deacon, opened his address to the jury yesterday morning, bringing to a close this afternoon a very eloquent speech, which lasted nearly ten hours.

In the course of his lengthy speech, Counsel submitted that the Chinese authorities were the proper persons to go to for redress, as any writ of execution issued by the Supreme Court would not extend to Canton; and the only means of satisfaction Messrs. Reuter Brockelmann had to recover the debt was by going to Canton. It was an absolutely proper course that the defendants took. A most extraordinary statement was made by the manager of the Cheung Loong firm, who had been called by the plaintiff, and who had actually told them that there had never been any partnership agreement between them in writing at all. He did not say that at the present moment there was no partnership agreement because it was lost—or destroyed. Surely that was a most extraordinary statement. Surely it was a statement which, on the face of it, was peculiar, and they had to remember that the other man—Wu Yee Nam—the witness said with himself contributed capital in unequal proportions. If that were so, surely it would furnish a strong reason indeed that a partnership agreement should have been drawn up, observed Mr. Pollock. Another thing, he went on to remark, was the disappearance of the cash book. And the plaintiffs were unable to produce any documentary evidence limiting the partnership to these two men, as put forth by the defendants in an important letter which had been put in, and which emphatically showed that there were other partners in the concern.

Shortly afterwards Mr. Slade commenced his address for the plaintiffs. He contended that the defendants had not proved the regularity of their action. All that the plaintiffs wanted was for them to prove that their action in seizing the Kwong Hing Cheung firm was regular. There was no legal right in China where these proceedings took place for the defendants to do what they did. They had no right to seize the plaintiffs' firm, even if there was a debt outstanding. That was the position taken up by the plaintiffs, observed Mr. Slade. If a creditor treats a man improperly, if a creditor seizes a man's property, assuming for the sake of argument that a debt had not been paid, the creditor was liable, and must pay damages, as the debtor had some distress rights. That was the law. This procedure amounted to enforcing a just claim in an irregular manner. Leaving the question of right aside, Counsel went on, even if the plaintiffs had owed $10 or $50,000 the defendants could not have acted in a more high-handed manner, by illegally seizing defendants' goods and chattels. Assuming that they did owe this debt they were not given a chance, nor even half a chance, to defend themselves. No inquiries had been made, nothing had been done, but they went right away and seized the property.

Mr. Pollock—My friend must not assume that the defendants had not made any inquiries into the matter.

Mr. Slade—The German Consul accepted the word of the defendant as correct and called the shop to be visited.

The Chief Justice—Mr. Slade, you must not forget that the Consul wrote to the people asking them to call and discuss the matter.

Mr. Slade—I am not.

Counsel continued with his address, and had not concluded when our representative left the Court.

OBITUARY.

DEATH OF MR. BLOOD.

Much regret will be felt by the European section of the community over the death, which took place at the Victoria Hospital, Peak, early this morning, of Mr. Gay Blood, an assistant in the firm of Messrs. Palmer and Turner.

Mr. Blood, who was well-known and equally well liked by his numerous friends, came out to Hongkong about six and a half years ago to join the firm of Palmer and Turner, architects and surveyors, during which period he took part in the construction of the more recently erected buildings in this Colony and also at Canton. On his last visit to Canton Mr. Blood, became ill. He returned to the Colony last Saturday week and was advised to go to hospital, but the disease from which he was suffering—meningitis—had taken too deep a hold on him, with the result, as stated above, that he expired at 6.30 o'clock this morning. Mr. Blood was a prominent member of the Hongkong Volunteer Corps, being recently promoted to the rank of second lieutenant. He was about thirty-three years of age.

The funeral, which took place this afternoon, was well attended. The volunteers turned out in large numbers to pay their last respect to a good friend and an old member of the Corps.

CANTON DAY BY DAY.

PROFIT OF THE MINT.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 13th July.

The total amount of net profit realised from the Canton Mint on its output of subsidiary coins during the six years from the 26th year to the 31st year as reported by the Canton High Authorities to the Tschibpu was 3,038,290 taels.

RAILWAY CO.'S CALL.

The Committee of the Oi Yuk Charitable Institution has again issued, for the information of the public, a circular in which the said institution states that it will, under no circumstances, agree to collect the second call on shares for the Canton-Hankow Railway Company.

A FISHING COMPANY.

The Canton people have started a fishing company for which a set of regulations has been drawn up to be submitted to the authorities for approval.

PIRACY.

With reference to the piracy of the steam launch Tung Kwai, on the 30th ultimo, Colonel Fung Ying Shum is blamed for neglect of duty, as the piracy was committed within his jurisdiction. Admiral Li Chun has severely reprimanded Fung and punished him by removing his official button. Moreover, Fung was also required to effect the apprehension of the pirates concerned within ten days.

RICE SALES.

The daily proceeds realised from the distribution of cheap rice in the four sheds during the days from the 6th day to the 9th day of this moon were as follows:—

	East shed.	West shed.	Honam shed.	Wongshu shed.
6th	$3,150	$2,353	$1,890	$1,667
7th	3,580	2,880	2,111	2,100
8th	3,230	2,375	1,628	2,891
9th	3,736	2,957	1,958	1,573

THE "OWL" BURGLARY.

A POLICE CLUE.

In connection with the burglary which took place at the "Owl" grill room the other night as the result of which something like $160 worth of cutlery, cigars and cigarettes were stolen, we are given to understand that the detectives are in possession of a clue which might probably lead to the arrest of the burglars. After most exhaustive investigations Detective Sergeant Appleton has succeeded in recovering a silver spoon—part of the stolen property—in the possession of a marine hawk—Yeung Ping—in his house at 13, East Street. Yeung Ping was promptly arrested, and is detained in police custody, by order of Mr. J. H. Kemp, first police magistrate, pending further inquiries. The accused is being detained on a charge of receiving property which he was aware had been stolen. The police are evidently on the right track, and it is to be hoped that the other suspects may be landed soon with the goods.
